Dana,

I hope you are doing well. Sorry I am just now responding. I am waiting to confirm with Colonial. Things have been hectic with the pipeline issue.

I will let you know as soon as I hear from them.

Thank you,
Cameron

We represent Colonial Pipeline Company and Tim Felt, the President and CEO, of Colonial would like to see if the Governor could meet during any of the dates listed below for an introduction in Raleigh. Felt give the Governor an overview of Colonial's footprint in the state, how much product Colonial moves through NC and highlight some of the airports and military installations Colonial provides product to across the state.

I've listed Felt's bio below, a list of potential dates for a meeting and a list of attendees from our end for the meeting.

Thanks and please let me know if you have any questions.

Tim Felt

President & Chief Executive Officer

Tim Felt is the President and Chief Executive Officer of Colonial Pipeline. Felt provides the top leadership, strategic vision and discipline required of Colonial as “America’s Energy Lifeline.”

On a day-to-day basis, Felt ensures Colonial meets its commitment to serve customers with safe, reliable and efficient fuel deliveries and to safeguard the public and the environment.

An experienced executive within the pipeline industry, Felt is past chairman and current Executive Committee member of the Association of Oil Pipe Lines (AOPL). He is past chairman of the American’s Petroleum Institute’s Pipeline Committee and currently serves as chairman of the Common Ground Alliance, an organization dedicated to preventing damage to all underground facilities, including pipelines.

Prior to joining Colonial Felt was president and CEO of Tulsa-based Explorer Pipeline for nine years. While there he was President of the Board for the Youth Services of Tulsa for two years and served on the board of Tulsa’s United Way.

Before Explorer Felt was Vice President of Mobil Pipeline Company from 1995-2000. During that time he served as a board member of five joint venture companies, including Colonial Pipeline. His career includes serving as president of Wolverine Pipeline, Collins Pipeline and T&M Terminal Company. His Mobil career began in 1983 and covered various positions and responsibilities, including the company's Quality Coordinator from 1991-1995.

A native of upstate New York, Felt earned an engineering degree from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and an MBA from Pepperdine University. He served seven years in the Army, reaching the rank of Captain. He and his wife, Patricia, have three children.

We represent Colonial Pipeline Company and Tim Felt, the President and CEO, of Colonial would like to see if the Governor could meet during any of the dates listed below for an introduction in Raleigh. Felt give the Governor an overview of Colonial's footprint in the state, how much product Colonial moves through NC and highlight some of the airports and military installations Colonial provides product to across the state.

I've listed Felt's bio below, a list of potential dates for a meeting and a list of attendees from our end for the meeting.

Thanks and please let me know if you have any questions.

Tim Felt

President & Chief Executive Officer

Tim Felt is the President and Chief Executive Officer of Colonial Pipeline. Felt provides the top leadership, strategic vision and discipline required of Colonial as “America’s Energy Lifeline.”

On a day-to-day basis, Felt ensures Colonial meets its commitment to serve customers with safe, reliable and efficient fuel deliveries and to safeguard the public and the environment.

An experienced executive within the pipeline industry, Felt is past chairman and current Executive Committee member of the Association of Oil Pipe Lines (AOPL). He is past chairman of the American’s Petroleum Institute’s Pipeline Committee and currently serves as chairman of the Common Ground Alliance, an organization dedicated to preventing damage to all underground facilities, including pipelines.

Prior to joining Colonial Felt was president and CEO of Tulsa-based Explorer Pipeline for nine years. While there he was President of the Board for the Youth Services of Tulsa for two years and served on the board of Tulsa's United Way.

Before Explorer Felt was Vice President of Mobil Pipeline Company from 1995-2000. During that time he served as a board member of five joint venture companies, including Colonial Pipeline. His career includes serving as president of Wolverine Pipeline, Collins Pipeline and T&M Terminal Company. His Mobil career began in 1983 and covered various positions and responsibilities, including the company's Quality Coordinator from 1991-1995.

A native of upstate New York, Felt earned an engineering degree from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and an MBA from Pepperdine University. He served seven years in the Army, reaching the rank of Captain. He and his wife, Patricia, have three children.

On a day-to-day basis, Felt ensures Colonial meets its commitment to serve customers with safe, reliable and efficient fuel deliveries and to safeguard the public and the environment.

An experienced executive within the pipeline industry, Felt is past chairman and current Executive Committee member of the Association of Oil Pipe Lines (AOPL). He is past chairman of the American's Petroleum Institute's Pipeline Committee and currently serves as chairman of the Common Ground Alliance, an organization dedicated to preventing damage to all underground facilities, including pipelines.

Prior to joining Colonial Felt was president and CEO of Tulsa-based Explorer Pipeline for nine years. While there he was President of the Board for the Youth Services of Tulsa for two years and served on the board of Tulsa's United Way.

Before Explorer Felt was Vice President of Mobil Pipeline Company from 1995-2000. During that time he served as a board member of five joint venture companies, including Colonial Pipeline. His career includes serving as president of Wolverine Pipeline, Collins Pipeline and T&M Terminal Company. His Mobil career began in 1983 and covered various positions and responsibilities, including the company's Quality Coordinator from 1991-1995.

A native of upstate New York, Felt earned an engineering degree from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and an MBA from Pepperdine University. He served seven years in the Army, reaching the rank of Captain. He and his wife, Patricia, have three children.
